About Christopher Chung Photography

With years of experience in professional property and interior photography, I specialise in creating stunning visual content that elevates real estate marketing to the highest standard. My work has been featured across multiple platforms, from estate agent portfolios to broadcast television, and has helped clients across the UK showcase their properties with exceptional quality and professionalism.

I understand that in the competitive Swiss real estate market, exceptional photography is not just about capturing spaces—it's about telling a story, evoking emotion, and presenting properties in their absolute best light. Every shoot is approached with meticulous attention to detail, professional-grade equipment, and a commitment to delivering images that drive results.

Proven Track Record in Premium Property Photography

My portfolio includes extensive work with leading real estate companies, interior designers, and broadcast media. From collaborating with NicheCom UK for commercial property photography to working alongside interior designers at Start With Art Interiors, I bring a comprehensive understanding of how to showcase properties that appeal to discerning buyers and tenants in premium markets.
